

URBAN ALFRESCO Trekking LA

Explore LA's community gardens, street art and homegrown food culture

This summer dine al fresco in one of the hidden urban farms or community gardens in Los Angeles. Eat hand-picked, local food and experience the art and stories of this year's partner neighborhoods.

SATURDAY, JUNE 26
HIGHLAND PARK
3-6 PM

Craftsman houses, animated graffiti and garden grown strawberries await you on our first trek of the summer.

Join us as author and local historian Charlie Fisher guides us through some of the neighborhood's architectural treasures, and Steve Grody, author of Graffiti LA, helps us decode the area's famous murals.

+ al fresco dining in our favorite neighborhood garden featuring DIY tacos and pupusas with local, homegrown squash blossoms.

Space is very limited

$25 all inclusive
